HAJA KOROMA

Haja Koroma hails from the city of brotherly love, Philadelphia, PA, with roots in Sierra Leone, West Africa.

As a junior at West Chester University, Haja is a member of several campus organizations, including NCNW, where she serves on the executive board as financial secretary. In this role, Haja manages the budget, ensures financial transparency, and spearheads fundraising initiatives. Additionally, Haja intends to work with the computer science club to organize coding bootcamps to teach programming and tech skills to students at various age- and skill-levels. Off-campus, Haja serves as a mentor to high school students, supporting their personal development.

Haja leverages her creativity and storytelling as a content creator focused on teen academic, personal, and professional development. Her engaging content has elevated her online presence––garnering 2,000 Instagram followers, 7,000 Youtube subscribers, and 20,000 TikTok followers. Upon earning her degree in computer science, Haja will leverage her technical skills to empower young people in low income communities to pursue careers in technology by providing them with access, resources, and support.

Haja is, a NCNW Bethune-Height rising changemaker!
